

Symbol for separate collection (Annex 4)

Manufacturers who place electrical and electronic equipment on the market are required to label them permanently and clearly visible and legible with the symbol from Annex 4, provided that this labeling is not already applied.

Excluded from this obligation are manufacturers concerning electrical and electronic equipment for which this labeling is not possible due to legal requirements, size, or the product's function. In such cases, the symbol must be placed on the packaging, the user manual, or the warranty certificate for the electrical or electronic equipment (Section 12 of the Electrical and Electronic Equipment Regulation
